The most impressive, it is today's rain. This app says SÃ© Ã© "e it leads in the following time, and above all when the first fall will fall per second. It is incredible from precision: a distribution is walking the failed missile: impact in 3, 2, 1 Ã© | and 0, receive the first raindrop. Even the app will be France is not so good. In addition to rain today tells you the quantity of water that will fall: a few drops or the sky that falls on the head. And there is also a map where rain masses appear. The cursor can be placed on a timeline to see how the clouds get up with time. 2018, a clear storm and temporal restaurateurs who have terraces, and all those who work outside, is even more important than there is more storms in France. This is a storm that says it. Their radars record lightning around the world where it falls to France. 2018 was a record year, which where we were registered as storms and clearly on the territory for 40 years that these phenomena are recorded: 725,000 Ã© clear, this is 2000 per day on average. Now, today, we don't know exactly where the storm is going to Clall more than an hour before it happens. He is also struggling to anticipate his power, and his consequences, but spectacular progress is made, especially thanks to the measured drones. They resume data, radar and satellites do not capture anything. At the end, this must allow more precise and more precise ones, where, when and with what power the thunderstorms will occur. Meanwhile, we can know better when you bring the imperceptible Ã©
