Operation managers are responsible for assessing the wishes and needs of consumers and the sale and promotion of the goods or services of the organization. True False 2. Often, collective success or failure of business operations functions will affect a nation's ability to compete with other nations. True False 3. Companies are producing goods or delivering services. This means that only one of the two types of operations management strategies are used. True False 4. Operations, marketing and finance work independently from each other in most organizations. True False 5. The higher the degree of customer engagement, the more challenging the project and operations management. True False 6. The goods-producing organizations are not involved in service activities. True False 7. Service operations require additional inventory because of the unpredictability of consumer demand. True False 8. The value of the outputs is measured by the prices that customers are willing to pay for goods or services. True False 9. The use of models will ensure the best possible decisions. True False 10. People working in the field of operations should have skills that include people's knowledge and skills. True False 11.
